

On a recent case, I successfully convinced the Court to set aside a prenup on a $1.3 million marital estate. How? By pointing out all of the ways the prenup did not meet the legal standards required to hold up in court—a costly error that could mean up to $650,000 lost for the opposing party.

Don't leave your future to chance with DIY forms or cut-and-paste agreements. A well-drafted, enforceable prenup protects your interests, provides peace of mind, and means a much cheaper and easier divorce should you ever need one.

Prenup Pricing:

Draft a Prenup: $2,200

Your attorney will advise you on strategy, assist with appropriate financial disclosures, negotiate with your partner or their attorney, and draft an easy-to-understand, legally enforceable agreement.

Review a Prenup: $1,200

Choose this option if your spouse already has a prenup that they want you to sign. Your attorney will discuss your concerns, your assets, and your spouse's assets, will make sure you fully understand your marital rights and how the agreement changes them, and, if necessary, recommend revisions. Your attorney will review one set of revisions.

Your relationship is unique. Your prenup should be too. Let's do it right—together.
